

I hope this blog will bring me into contact with new friends, perhaps even some fellow writers. Ideally, I would like to become proficient enough in the language to be able to attempt to translate my own fiction, to bring it to the widest possible audience.